

ABSTRACT

The present invention is a computer based system that allows digital audio broadcasters to produce an entertaining interactive flow of digital information for commercial purposes, place advertising within it, control the timing, flow and occurrence of that data as it will be delivered to a consumer. This system is called R-COMMERCE.TM